

BENJAMIN KAMOYE

I exist to help leaders articulate their authentic value, crystallize their purpose into a vision and take coordinated steps to achieve it. I started my leadership journey at 19 and took up opportunities to lead as well as teach leadership. At an early age, I knew I was meant to inspire audiences to Manifest Their Brilliance®. Although the path to fulfill my purpose was not very clear then, I pressed on. Through many setbacks, I broke new ground in the advertising industry by pioneering transit advertising in Nairobi. The business was a huge success, and seven years later, I transitioned into my calling, which is to raise leaders, becoming a business partner with the world's No. #1 leadership trainer and speaker, Dr. John C. Maxwell. I have volunteered and been actively involved in designing and delivering leadership curricula to more than one thousand leaders.

Today, I am the CEO of Bitesize Learning Ltd., a leadership consulting house that helps business owners distill their purpose into a vision and build high achieving teams to realize that vision. My body of work and expertise as a coach, speaker and trainer continues to influence outcomes in various sectors such as manufacturing, hospitality, humanitarian, healthcare, real estate, information technology, and academia, for clients across Kenya, Ethiopia, Botswana, Uganda, Zanzibar, Malawi and Nigeria.

I hold a Master of Science in Governance and am certified as a Coach, Speaker and Trainer with the John Maxwell Team. Additionally, I am a certified practitioner of the Myers Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI), The Leadership Circle Profile, Thomas Kilman Instrument, and the Innovation Thinking Styles.

Socially, I enjoy swimming, which keeps me recharged and ready to serve passionately.